

Quarterly Talent Review (QTR)

A high performance culture starts with a healthy organizational structure and team. The Quarterly Talent Review (QTR) is a strategic mechanism designed to bring our E-Group leaders together with their respectively aligned key People Group counterparts in a single session to review key Talent metrics and strategy on a quarterly basis with the ultimate goal of driving forward a tightly aligned divisional Talent Strategy.

Goals and benefits of the QTR include the ability to:

- Connect dots and draw themes across multiple data sources that may not have been as evident reviewed in isolation
- Create more connection and alignment across all departments within the People Group as one team
- Optimize time and efficiency across the board for our E-Group leaders
- Ensure we maintain a regular and proactive pulse on key Talent metrics
- Align on and communicate a tailored and data driven division Talent Strategy going in to each fiscal year

2. Prep Call

- When: PBPs and People division key stakeholders should schedule their initial prep call shortly after receiving the report and completing their initial review, ideally within one week of report delivery.
